

Product Strategy: Drive the differentiated "2+1-1" strategy based on strong product quality, Robam's reputation and market insight.

2 Flagship Products Gas Stove & Range Hood

Insights

- ✓ Its parent company Robam has high consumer recognition (88%) in range hoods and gas stoves.
- Position
Avoid competing on price alone and instead deliver superior value-for-money to consumers with reasonable price.
- Highlight
"High Quality" --- Safety & Durability & Energy efficiency

1 Seed Product Dishwasher

- ✓ Positive Outlook
Though currently dishwasher falls outside the perceived consumption scope of the target customers, there exists strong alignment between the dishwasher's feature of multi-set intensive usage and the demographic profile of large family sizes.
- ✓ Market Opportunity
The dishwasher market is still underpenetrated and fragmenting, especially in mid to low-end market.

- Supply-demand mismatch
While high production and maintenance costs have resulted in high prices, the product's perceived value falls short among mid to low-end consumers, as their space-saving needs can already be met with range hood & stove set, and the oven is unnecessary for them.

1 Deprioritized Product Integrated Stove

Strategies

- ❑ Leveraging the Framing Effect in Price and Product Presentation
Rather than letting consumers default to comparing against lower-end alternatives and find it expensive, we proactively position products alongside comparable products from Robam, to show that it remain the core functions.
- ❑ Bundled Sales
Leverage consistent aesthetics and forms designed for spatial integration to create space-efficient kitchen appliance sets.
- ❑ Nudge Strategies
By leveraging in-store visual repetition, online product presentations and integration into scenario construction, we hope to realize consumer mindset transformation before the next home appliance consumption peak.
- ❑ Tailor Product
Preserve essential product features while effectively manage costs. Then leverage aggressing or even break-even pricing to rapidly capture the market share.

Timing product launch in response to market trends (next peak, 2027-2028) with price :¥1,800-2,000.
- ❑ Scale back R&D and production and reallocate production capacity to high-performing products.

Marketing Strategy: Activate traditional and new media channels in parallel to achieve broad reach thus heightened brand awareness.

Distribution Channels: Beyond maintaining stable operations on e-commerce platforms, expand offline footprint and explore new B2B opportunities.

To C

Status Quo : Insufficient Offline Stores & Distributor Dissatisfaction

A

One of our main competitors, Supor, has offline coverage in 275 cities with 50,000+ stores.

While MQ has offline coverage in only 126 cities with only 10,000+ stores.

B

"In 2023, our store sold only a few units of MQ products. With no brand recognition and no sales, we simply didn't bother selling MQ in 2024."

Zhao Hang, the owner of a Suning store in a town in northern Anhui

Expand Offline Store Coverage

- Increase density in middle regions, expand to northeastern and northwestern regions.
- Realize layered layout with brand store → appliance chain stores → town-level retail outlets.

Boost Distributor Confidence

- Implement regional protection policy.
- Provide financial support and business guidance.

Offer Better Offline Experience

- Demonstrate real-life scenarios with designed light, color and display order.
- Provide interactive devices for consumers to try.
- Train staff to offer detailed on-site explanations.

To B

1 Optimize the Proportion of Engineering Channels

Mitigate the risk of bad debts from large clients.

- Focus on B2C as the primary distribution channel, with B2B controlled under 30%.
- Increase contracts with small and medium-sized clients in engineering channels and boost short-term receivables.

2 Expand Partnership with Apartments and Dormitories

- ❑ Prioritize Durability & Equality
- ❑ High Resident Turnover

- Student Dormitories
- Employee Dormitories
- Apartment Management Companies
- Talent Apartments by Government

- Direct Market Penetration
- Indirect Brand Promotion
- More Stable & long-term Contracts

Customer Maintenance: Build a private domain through WeChat Mini Program to enhance service efficiency and foster customer loyalty.

Policy-backed Penetration: Offer one-stop trade-in services in lower-tier communities to realize product anchoring and consumer accumulation.

Base

1. Policy-driven demand has not been fully unlocked.

The "trade-in" policy significantly boosts new appliance purchases, but the complicated procedures and product eligibility requirements cause consumer confusion.

2. Robam has already launched the "Worry-free Kitchen Upgrade" service.

It covers 97 service points and 1,361 professional teams nationwide, which can support the similar penetration strategy for MQ.

3. MQ is a better fit for replacement demand in lower-tier cities.

Compared to Robam, MQ appliances are more affordable.

SOP Design

Consumers register via WeChat Mini Program.

Professional team pay on-site visit for dismantling, explanation, and offering replacement options (MQ products).

Immediate purchase or reservation through the mini-program.

Follow-up visit for new product installation.

MQ should proactively take responsibility for missing product categories by extending subsidies to items not covered by government policies.

Risk

Labor costs for dismantling and reinstalling may turn out higher than expected.

Cost-benefit Imbalance

Considering that the prices of products of MQ are still relatively high, customers may hesitate to select it as their replacement option, leading to a revenue lower than expected.

Strategy

1

Pilot Programs

- Select communities located in lower-tier cities rather than towns, close to Robam's kitchen renovation service points and MQ's offline outlets.
- Conduct the pilot program for 1-2 years. Make sure it's a positive strategy before spreading out to more.

2

Manpower Deployment

- Leverage Robam's existing technicians.
- Equip additional trucks and personnel.

MQ can choose to recruit former distributors in lower-tier cities or towns who failed previously, or simply local people --- selective and strategic recruitment helps improve corporate image.

Additional Strategy: In long term, continually highlight and articulate key values to create unique brand perception.

Position & Identity

Signature Concept: “Neo-Pragmatism”

- The concept of "Neo-Pragmatism" is a strong naming choice, but without clear articulation, it may become only a superficial slogan.
-->It is necessary to explain and emphasize what makes it “neo” through strategic comparisons and storytelling:
- Traditional pragmatism: “functional”
- Neo-pragmatism: functionality upgraded — “not just functional, but reliable and durable” — higher standards of technology, performance, and quality.

Powerful Slogan

“Make Quality, Meet Quality.”
名气，默契之选。

(Familiar with the consumers’ upgrading needs.)

Value Construction

- There is still considerable untapped demand for premium appliances even among mid to-low-end consumers.
- Based on this insight, build a brand value proposition around “Everyone (even mid-to low-end customer) deserves and can access a quality life.”

subtly reinforce

Long-term Brand
Identity & Value Construction

